

ORDINANCE NO. 2004 - 1

WHEREAS, Jennings Northwest Regional Utilities (hereinafter "JNRU") owns and operates a sewage collection and treatment system to provide sewer services throughout its territorial district; and,

WHEREAS, in 1999 JNRU undertook Phase I to construct sewer lines out into the district, some of which sewer lines were never completed and remain disconnected and unable to be utilized; and,

WHEREAS, JNRU is in the process of completing a re-financing of its major sewer debt through the Indiana State Revolving Fund (hereinafter "SRF"), which refinancing requires the district to undertake to study the completion and connection of these unconnected sewer lines; and,

WHEREAS, as part of this re-financing, the SRF is not requiring that JNRU compel property owners adjacent to these lines to connect into the district's system; and,

WHEREAS, the district desires to assure prospective customers that if these incomplete lines are completed, there will be no forced connections to the district's sewer system by residential property owners along these sewer lines.

BE IT, THEREFORE, ORDAINED, by the Board of Trustees of JNRU, that should the district's incomplete services lines in the Phase I project area be eventually completed and connected into the district's system and placed in service, that the district will not require residential property owners along those lines to connect their homes into the district's sewer system.

SO ORDAINED this 21st day of June, 2004.
